The two precincts not reported are small and will not likely change results materially. Col. T. Y. Williams is elected to the Senate by a majority of between 200 and 300. Messrs Jones and Robinson are elected to the House of Representatives, and Supt. of Education Moore is re-elected. It will probably require the official count after the other boxes are heard from to determine who will be in the second race for Treasurer, Auditor and Supervisor.

Brutal Murder of an Aged Citizen.

Beaufort special in yesterday's State: Mr. Geo. M. Harvey was murdered Sunday night on Ladies island. A negro is in the county jail, charged with the crime.

The verdict of the coroner's jury was that deceased came to his death by a gunshot wound, the gun is the opinion of the jury being fired by Wm. Bennett, and that Wm. Ferguson is a material witness, if not accessory.

Mr. Harvey, a well known farmer, age 72, of the Bluffton section, was visiting his son a few miles from Beaufort. Last evening he was left alone in the house from 5 until 7, and upon returning his son found him lying dead on the piazza with a horrible gunshot wound in his head. A shotgun and pistol were missing from the house.

One Cent Damages.

Monroe special in Charlotte Observer: In the case of Perry against Doster, concerning a horse trade, the jury found for the plaintiff and awarded him one cent damages. The issue on which this amount was awarded required the jury to determine whether the horse was of less value than he was represented to be, and if so, how much. They decided that the difference was expressed by the above amount. Mr. Doster informed me later that he had been able to borrow the necessary sum and make complete settlement.

Dr. Massey Reiterates Statement Made About the Wylie Incident.

In a card in Monday's State Dr. J. E. Massey, Sr., of Rock Hill, in part says: In justice to myself in regard to what Mr. Joe B. Wylie of the State board of control said to Dr. J. H. Saye, Mr. F. P. McCain and myself on the train between Yorkville and Clover, about the present management of the South Carolina State dispensary I would state that Mr. Wylie arose from his seat in the front part of the car and came to our seats, about the middle of the car, and after the usual salutations, Dr. J. H. Saye or myself, one, remarked that we hoped he would keep the state dispensary clean, and his answer was that it was impossible, that it was certainly in bad shape, or words to that effect. I asked him if he couldn't get another member of board to vote with him (naming the man). He said, "No," shaking his head long, and significantly remarking at the same time: "I am on ly one against two." He then told us about the 2,000 cases or gallons of whiskey being bought under his protest and also about Mr. J. S. Farnum of Charleston, S. C., still controlling the beer sales to the board, intimating that he (Farnum) was still getting his usual rake-off or rebates, which was also against his (Wylie's) protest.

Knight-Stogner.

She Hugged the Mayor.

Lively Episode in Aiken Police Court.

Aiken, Aug. 27.—The dignity of his honor, Mayor Salley, was ruffled by a very unusual and amusing performance in the mayor's court Saturday.

The hugging of a mayor while performing the duties of a municipal judge is perhaps an unprecedented occurrence in police court annals. His honor is usually the lone star in the court performance, but the honors of that position were contested in a very unusual manner at this week's meeting of the court.

While trying the case of Abney Johnson, a negro, charged with larceny, Mrs. Buckle Jordan, a white woman who was a witness in the case, made her statement, but when questioned by the mayor, she refused to answer and stated that she had told all she knew about the case. His honor politely told her that she must answer the questions asked her, but she asserted that she would not do so, and she would go to jail before she would answer the question. His honor insisted, saying he would be obliged to have her put in the guard house. She steadfastly refused and the mayor directed the chief of police to put her in the guard house until she was ready to answer the questions of the court. The chief took but one step towards her, when the witness rushed to the mayor, and throwing her arms around his neck, held tightly to him until the services of three policemen had to be brought into requisition to make her release her hold upon his honor's neck. His honor is a young man and perhaps the lady wanted to give him his first sample of an angelical hug.
